

2009 Bible Reading Plan

Need a practical plan for personal Bible study? Here it is. By reading just two chapters per day five days per week, you will complete the entire New Testament as well as selected books of the Old Testament by the end of the year. This five day reading plan is especially helpful because you have the weekend to complete any reading missed during the previous days.

A simple method of maximizing your devotional time is to write the following insights in a daily journal or notebook: (1) the verses that stand out to you; (2) the principles and lessons you see in the chapter; (3) how you can apply these principles and lessons to your life; and (4) teachings/statements you don't quite understand and want to study further
